Please Post - Thank You!
DURING THIS ONE-DAY SEMINAR you will become familiar with the most current clinical practice recommendations for limited assessment of the fetus in utero. Highlights include use of ultrasound by OB practitioners including nurses and nurse-midwives for third trimester scans in the antepartum testing and triage units. The seminar will focus on essential observations of the fetus in third trimester. On site Ultrasound equipment and use of a Fetal Phantom for hands on experience; and simulated learning with SIMTICS Ultrasound online training modules.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS:
- Fundamentals of Ultrasound Physics
- Imaging Orientation - Fetal Evaluation
- Anionic Fluid Evaluation - Biophysical Profile
- Fetal Lie - Use the Phantom
- Professional, Ethical & Documentation Issues
- Policy development resources
- MAY COMBINE WITH EFM ADVANCED REVIEW AND SAVE. Optional NCC EFM specialty exam on-site (see website for details)

This program presents the didactic component recommended in the AWHONN and ACNM guidelines. A Clinical Checklist is provided and reviewed to assist the individual in arranging follow-up clinical training, in their own setting. OB Clinical Simulation Modules available for purchase

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES:
This program provides the didactic component recommended by AWHONN in the NEW Ultrasound Examination for Nurses in Obstetric, Gynecologic, and Reproductive Medicine Settings: Clinical Competencies and Education Guide. At the conclusion of this program the participant will be able to:
- Understand the practice competencies for ultrasound use in the gynecologic and obstetric setting.
- Describe indications for OB third trimester limited examination.
- Understand basic principles of ultrasound physics/instrumentation: equipment keyboard and orientation. (Bring a picture of yours)
- Define the scope of patient education specific to antepartum fetal assessment and various clinical use of obstetrical ultrasound in the third trimester.
- Review use of limited ultrasound in OB triage.
- Discuss the indications for and implications of Biophysical Profiles in evaluating and managing at-risk pregnancy.
- Discuss the role of the clinician in performing limited obstetrical ultrasound for labor and delivery triage, including cervical length.
- Identify key elements of accountability and documentation specific to ultrasound implementation, evaluation, and billing.
- List the differences between standard, limited and specialized obstetrical ultrasound examinations.
