Practice with
Fetal and Pelvis Phantoms: Practice both abdominal and transvaginal scanning.
Take your personal time with skilled clinicians.

DURING THIS TWO-DAY SEMINAR you will become familiar with the most current clinical practice recommendations for assessment of the female pelvis and the fetus in utero. Highlights include use of ultrasound by OB practitioners including nurses and nurse-midwives for gynecology, first trimester assessment, standard second and third trimester scans, including biophysical profiles, and essential observations of the fetus in managing triage and care in labor and delivery. Demonstration of didactic mastery is offered with the Post Exam (Additional certificate mailed after confirmed passage of exam). On site ultrasound equipment and use of Fetal and Pelvis Phantoms for hands on experience; and US modules demos.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS:
• Fundamentals of Ultrasound Physics
• Imaging Orientation - Gyn & Fetal Evaluation
• Biophysical Profile - Biometric Measurements
• Fetal Lie (Use the Fetal Phantom)
• Professional, Ethical & Documentation Issues
• Policy development
• Post Exam Verifying Didactic Mastery

This program presents the didactic component recommended in the AWHONN and ACNM guidelines. Didactic requirements for ACNM/ARDM Certification will be met. A Clinical Checklist is provided and reviewed to assist the individual in arranging follow-up clinical training, in their own setting. OB Clinical Simulation Modules available for purchase at a discount for class participants.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES
This program provides the didactic component recommended by ACNM and AWHONN in the New Ultrasound Examinations Performance by Nurses in Obstetric, Gynecologic, and Reproductive Medicine. Settings: Clinical Competencies and Education Guide. At the conclusion of this program the participant will be able to:
• Understand the practice competencies for ultrasound use in the gynecologic and obstetric setting.
• Describe indications for gynecologic and OB ultrasound examination.
• Understand basic principles of ultrasound physics/instrumentation; equipment keyboard and orientation. (Bring a picture of yours)
• Define the scope of patient education specific to gynecologic, antepartum fetal assessment and various clinical use of obstetrical ultrasound, first, second, and third trimester.
• Review use of limited ultrasound in OB triage.
• Discuss the indications for and implications of Biophysical Profiles in evaluating and managing at-risk pregnancy.
• Discuss the role of the clinician in performing limited obstetrical ultrasound for labor and delivery triage, including cervical length.
• Identify key elements of accountability and documentation specific to ultrasound implementation, evaluation, and billing.
• List the components of a standard, limited and specialized obstetrical ultrasound examination.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY...
"The opportunity to pick up a transducer and utilize knobs was very helpful, and the PHANTOM really reinforced concepts!"

"The PRACTICAL POINTS and CLINICAL CHECKLIST gave me just what I needed to go back and set up my own hands-on experience. I was amazed at how simple it was to apply once I got back into my clinical setting!"

"Great class! Very LOGICALLY ORGANIZED. Subject taught interesting and DOWN TO EARTH, manner."

"EXCELLENT, INFORMATIVE, ENJOYABLE.
As a Physician who does ultrasound in the office, this course provided information to improve my skills."
